

Sporting Clays VS Trap

Sporting clays is known as golf with a shotgun. There are either 100 rounds or 50 rounds to shoot. You and your friends go from one station to another at your own pace. There are either following pairs which are one right after another or true pairs which are at the same time. It is known as a more social game.

Trap is known as gambling with a shotgun. Which goes to say it is a more serious game. Shooters are shooting for money. The amount won depends on how many people are shooting. There are a few different games.

1) Mini Program this game you will shoot 10 at the 16 yard line. Then you go back to the 23,24,25 yard line depending on how many you missed and shoot 15 more. The top three get the pay out.

2) Annie Oakley with this you will stand on the 27 yard line with everyone. There are 4 guns up, The first gun shoots if he misses the second gun has a chance and so on. This goes on until everyone is out. It's an elimination game. Last one standing wins the pot.

3) Protection is the most popular. There are two people at each post on the 27 yard line. The first gun shoots and if he misses his partner should pick it up. Then you move onto the next post. Until all five posts have been shot. The best out of 10 wins and there is first and second place.

4) Practice is one person shooting each post by himself and not for money. This is usually done before the games begin. However If you are just starting or work later than most people or just want a little more practice. We are very willing to stay and help as long as you want.
